Alan was born on February 28th, 1947 to Shirley (Davis) and Elliott Weisenberg in Cleveland, Ohio. Alan became a big brother to Dennis (Denny) Weisenberg three years later and enjoyed the role his entire life, talking to him every single day for 75 years. Alan spent his childhood playing baseball, football and tennis for neighborhood school teams, fishing with his father, and falling in love with horse racing. His passion for harness horse racing was unmatched. He often told friends that he had attended the Little Brown Jug at the Delaware County Fair for 54 straight years. He loved nothing more than to share his passion with family and friends.

Graduating from Beachwood High School in 1965, Alan concluded his undergraduate studies at The University of Pittsburgh before attending The Ohio State College of Medicine. Alan worked late nights and long hours as an emergency room physician for Mount Carmel's East and West Hospitals for 39 years. He devoted his working life to caring for others in need. Alan and Cindy met at Mount Carmel Hospital where Cindy worked as a nurse, sharing their devotion to helping patients. Alan was a longtime member of Temple Beth Shalom in Columbus, Ohio where he generously endowed the Temple Library in honor of his parents.
